CSA

Thursday, July 12, 2012

Beverly resident awarded prestigious Fellow Award

At the recent Costume Society of America (CSA) National Symposium, held in Atlanta Ga., Beverly resident Barbara Broudo was presented with the CSA Fellow Award, the highest honor the international organization awards.

Broudo, director of the Archives & Museum at Endicott College, has been affiliated with CSA in national leadership positions for many years, culminating as president of the organization.

The Fellow Award recognizes those members of the Costume Society of America whose dedication, commitment, leadership and outstanding contributions to the Society and to the field of costume warrant bestowal of the society's highest honor as Fellow.

The mission of CSA is to encourage the study of dress and fashion through education, research, preservation and design.