

Sustainability Forum

A coalition of environmental and community groups from the North Shore area will screen excerpts from the Academy Award-winning documentary "Food, Inc." as part of a Sustainability Forum to be held Thursday, March 25 at 7 p.m. at the Little Theatre in the Halle Library, Endicott College, 376 Hale St. The event is free and open to the public. Locally produced refreshments will be served.

The event marks the launch of a new initiative aimed at increasing awareness of sustainable living, and it is the first of what will be an ongoing series of lectures, films, workshops, and discussions focused on environmental advancements.

Guest speakers at the Sustainability Forum include Andrea Fox, an environmental journalist who is co-chairwoman of the Citizens for Salem/Beverly Water Resources, and Ben Zoba, a local grower affiliated with the Trustees of the Reservations and The Food Project. Members of the Endicott community will also discuss some of the many "green" initiatives being made on the college campus.

For information, contact Alex Casioppo, coordinator of Environmental Affairs, at acasiopp@endicott.edu or 978-232-2195.

Easter egg hunt at Endicott College

Endicott College's annual Easter egg hunt will take place on Sunday, March 28. Children will gather at 1 p.m. at the Callahan Center, Endicott College, 376 Hale St. The Easter egg hunt will take place outside starting at 1:30 p.m. This free event is open to all Beverly area children up to age 12 and their families. A parent or guardian must accompany children.

➤ SEE INFORMATION, PAGE 19

➤ INFORMATION, FROM PAGE 18

Activities will include: an Easter egg hunt, arts and crafts, games, and a special visit from the Easter Bunny.

For information, call 978-232-2141.